What is the Buddy-Programme?

The Buddy-Programme facilitates and strengthens contact between new international students and experienced students.

It is designed to help international students find their way at Ulm University, and to facilitate their settling in Ulm and Neu-Ulm. Experienced students, on the other hand, gain a new perspective on their surroundings and become part of an international community.

The Buddy Programme is essentially based on the voluntary efforts of Ulm University's students. The International Office backs the Buddy-Programme with regular events like intercultural training, excursions or group meetings.
Reasons, to become a Buddy!

- As a Buddy you become part of an international network and also discover Ulm with a new perspective.
- Acquire key skills that are in high demand on the job market and in many professions.
- Participation in Buddy-Programme events (Intercultural training, Welcome event, Stammtische) is free of charge.
- You have the possibility to become active in an international environment.
- Buddies receive a booklet with vouchers for cultural and leisure activities in our region.
- The Buddies receive a certificate of their social and intercultural commitment from the International Office, on request.
To become a Buddy, no special previous knowledge is necessary. Openness, enjoyment in dealing with other people and cultures, as well as personal reliability form the basis for a successful experience. Furthermore, English is an advantage.

As an experienced Buddy, you are a contact person for a new international student. You should support she/him to get acquainted with the city and initiate leisure activities. In the beginning of the semester you might also assist her/him with formalities such as their mobile phone contract, bank account or dealing with authorities.

You can share your time freely and plan your activities independently. However, especially during the start-up phase, you should plan a little more time (4 to 8 weeks maximum) and accompany your Buddy for a complete semester. Of course, there is no expectation to be available 24 hours a day.
